Subject Index

This is a comprehensive and cross-referenced subject index of articles appearing in the first forty years of Dædalus. While extensive, readers should be aware that it is not an exhaustive index of the contents of all articles published in the first forty years of the Journal; the intent here is merely to narrow the search of those seeking what Dædalus has published on any one, or any combination, of a number of topics across the Journal's wide spectrum of interests.

Abbreviations for the seasons of publication are, in the order in which issues of Dædalus appear, W=Winter; Sp=Spring; Su=Summer; and F=Fall. Note that through 1971, issues of Dædalus were paginated through the entire volume; beginning with the Winter 1972 issue, they became paginated anew with each new issue. We wish especially to acknowledge the work of Susan Marcus, who compiled the Subject Index.

Acknowledgments

We wish here to record our gratitude to the many organizations whose generous support has been so important to the first forty years of Dædalus. Those whose names appear below have provided significant support in making possible the one hundred sixty issues of the Journal that were published during these years. There are many other institutions and individuals, too many to list here, whose participation and support, tangible and intangible, have contributed in countless ways and without whom the growth of Dædalus from its beginnings to the stature it enjoys today would not have been possible. We trust they will understand that, while our space here for names is limited, our appreciation for all they have given is great.
